Reviews

Absolutely among the best publication I have got at any time go through. It really is written in straightforward phrases rather than hard to understand. It's been designed in an extremely straightforward way which is just soon after I finished reading this publication through which basically modified me, alter the way I believe.

Excerpt: . . . 9 and net neutrality mandates on an industry that is already aggressive. Government should not dictate how a current successful in-dustry should run, and the Carterfone principles should not be ex-tended to todays competitive wireless industry. Congress must con-tinue to promote policies that foster innovation in wireless tech-nologies and not allow States to set policies that will stifle competi-tion. It is critical that we do not enact regulatory burdens that hinder an industry responsible for providing consumers choice in telephony. I thank you, Mr. Chairman, and look forward to hearing from our witnesses today, and I yield back my time. Mr. M. The gentlemans time has expired. The Chair recog-ARKEY nizes the gentleman from Washington State, Mr. Inslee. OPENING STATEMENT OF HON. JAY INSLEE, A REPRESENTA-TIVE IN CONGRESS FROM THE STATE OF WASHINGTON Mr. I. Thank you. I look forward to this hearing. I just NSLEE wanted to comment on two things that have fundamental ramifica-tions for the development of this service, one is the development of white spaces, and we wont be talking about that much today, but I think it is an important issue that all of us keep in mind that we try to develop these technologies. The other, I want to reiterate Mr. Uptons comments about the injunction that really does threat-en the industry of Broadcom and QUALCOMM issue, and I will be active in talking to the Ambassador in attempting to find a remedy that doesnt potentially significantly affect services for millions of Americans, and I look forward to working with others in this room on that. Thank...
