Today, I am hoping the witnesses can help us get a handle on the economic viability of nuclear waste reprocessing, be-cause if we are going to use the power, we must deal with the waste. Up until now, it has not made economic sense to develop a domestic recycling capacity, partly because of the stagnation that de-veloped in the U. S. nuclear energy construction program. Also, the so-called megatons to megawatts program that takes Russian weapons-grade uranium and down-blends it to lower con-centrations needed for nuclear power reactors has helped to keep down the cost of reactor fuel, making reprocessing uneconomical. And if the Administration succeeds in increasing the use of nu-clear energy for the production of electricity over the next several decades, there will be significant consequences in terms of nuclear fuel demand and nuclear...
